The R-Go Split armrest provides optimal support for the forearms during monitor work. The two separate parts allow you to optimally personalize the armrest so that the arms are supported close to the body. Each part is separately adjustable and can be rotated and slid on the desktop as desired. In other words: the armrest that fits everyone! Using the R-Go Split armrest, you will automatically adopt an upright working posture, giving relaxation in the neck and shoulders. This armrest is padded and therefore feels soft and comfortable. The R-Go Split armrest fits virtually all
