A leading player in the promotion of SATA technology, Fujitsu was the first hard disk drive manufacturer to introduce a 2.5-inch SATA-based drive. Now Fujitsu is releasing its latest generation of SATA hard disk drives, featuring storage capacities of up to 160GB.

This efficient low power consumption hard disk drive still retains the outstanding level of quality and reliability for which Fujitsu is renowned. With higher shock tolerance and improved input-output per second (IOPS) rates, both performance and reliability are increased when using multiple hard disk drives. Fluid Dynamic Bearing (FDB) motors help limit acoustic noise, ensuring whisper-quiet operation which makes Fujitsu's 2.5-inch SATA hard disk drives an excellent choice for today’s ultra-fast, high-capacity notebook computers computers.

The Fujitsu MHW2xxxBH series are also RoHS compliant/lead free. RoHS refers to the European Commission's RoHS directive for eliminating certain hazardous materials in the manufacturing of electronic equipment.
