The Cisco Headset 320 Series are affordable headsets that maximise your investment while providing the essentials for everyday office use. Featuring plug and play setup, clear audio, lightweight design and a new one button to join experience (USB models only) that allows you to join a Webex meeting easily. Designed for workers who spend a lot of time wearing headsets at their desk, for example in call centre, and are looking to save time with productivity features like the Webex button (USB models only). Cisco Headset 320 Series models offer flexible options for connecting to devices including support for USB-A, USB-C or RJ-9 connections (Connection options depend on headset model). Cisco headsets include deep integrations with Cisco applications and devices, allowing for an intuitive user experience and intelligent IT headset management across the Cisco ecosystem.
