In terms of software, the 7 series comes with Android 15 and the promise that the operating system will be updated for at least the next five Android generations. In addition, security patches are carried out on an ongoing basis and the smartphone is kept at the current security level.

Thanks to NFC and a fingerprint sensor, users don't have to worry about online banking or logging into digital government services.

No panic thanks to the Panic button

The tried-and-tested Panic button is also included in the 7 series. This external, directly accessible Emergency button provides security, for example when you are out alone at night. This physical button is designed for a Favourites function and can also be assigned other functions (e.g. voice assistant/Google Gemini, torch).

Safety is also ensured by the patented Smartcover, which allows important functions to be operated when the device is closed.

Replace the battery yourself

The battery is tested for at least 1,000 charging cycles, is no longer permanently installed and can be replaced by the user. Spare parts are guaranteed to be available for at least seven years.

Convenience: easy to use, Info Centre, emporiaCOACH, charging cradle

The proven emporia interface with large control panels and clearly structured menu navigation is ideal for those who want simplicity. You can easily switch to the familiar Android mode at any time and back again.
