The CHERRY SLIDEPAD ERGO is a sliding armrest to improve ergonomics at the workplace. The articulating desk palm rest optimises the position of your wrist and forearm, helping prevent pain when using the mouse and keyboard.

Comfortable and ergonomic

Your arm nestles comfortably on the padded support surface, and you can still enjoy complete freedom of movement. Switching from mouse to keyboard eliminates the need to raise your arm. Simply slide effortlessly back and forth with the pad, whether on a mouse pad or on a desk. The movable support relieves the arm and promotes an upright posture. This supports you in everyday work and helps to relax your shoulders. This can prevent RSI (colloquially known as ""mouse arm""), carpal tunnel syndrome, elbow problems, or tendonitis.

Universal and yet individual

The CHERRY SLIDEPAD ERGO can be used with any mouse or keyboard - including vertical mice, of course. The pad can be used left-handed or right-handed, or ambidextrous by using a second pad. Position your arm where it is most comfortable for you, from the front of your wrist to the back of your elbow. The areas of application are therefore very versatile - just as you prefer.

Easy care and durable

The ergonomic slidepad can be easily cleaned or disinfected thanks to the pleasant surface made of high-quality synthetic leather. The pad still looks like new even after a long period of use. Nothing stands in the way of years of use.

The CHERRY SLIDEPAD ERGO comes in a clean and minimalist design and stands for maximum ergonomics. An elegantly designed accessory for every workplace that makes your everyday life noticeably easier.
