Comfort and sound quality – the ideal combination for intensive work and play

The CHERRY HC 2.2 headset is the ideal mix of comfort and sound quality for extra-long gaming sessions, video conferencing or multimedia applications.
The oval ear cushions fit snuggly around your ears and block out ambient noise. The high-quality synthetic leather cover feels like a second skin, while a silicone air cushion relieves pressure on the top of your head. Since no two ears are alike, the pads can be rotated and individually adjusted. They can even be replaced if they get dirty - replacement pads are available separately.
The integrated USB sound card, together with the powerful 50 mm drivers, delivers a wide sound spectrum with emphasized deep bass and fine treble with clear sound reproduction. Virtual 7.1 surround sound enables perfect orientation during gaming. Music and voice chats are also played back impressively. The tactile volume controls and microphone mute are located directly on the left side of the headphones for quick and easy access.

The sensitive microphone is attached to the headset via a 3.5 mm AUX connector and can be easily removed. The integrated LED on the microphone directly indicates if it has been muted. If required, the supplied microphone wind protector can be used to reduce breath sounds.

When using a Windows PC, optional free software is available that allows you to make adjustments to the sound image, for example, even while the headphones are in use. You can adjust the sound, change the microphone volume or activate surround presets in the Audio Centre.

High-quality materials and minimalist design complete the full package. Red illuminated CHERRY logos add the finishing touch to the classy look and set a striking tone. The headset folds up to fit in any pocket - ideal for mobile work or frequent changes of location.
