Thinking about how to grow your YouTube channel or improve the quality of your online broadcasts? Nothing simpler. The Genesis Radium 400 G2 is a refreshed version of our popular studio microphone that will provide high quality recordings, as well as simplicity of editing.

MAKE YOURSELF HEARD

Use the Genesis Radium 400 G2 and improve the quality of your sound. This is thanks not only to a wider frequency response, but also to higher sensitivity. What does this mean? Detailed and more natural messages. Whether you're using the microphone to talk to friends or conduct live broadcasts, with the Genesis Radium 400 G2 you'll sound as professional as ever.

ONLY YOUR VOICE

The Genesis Radium 400 G2 is a microphone with a cardioid characteristic. This ensures that it captures sounds coming from a specific direction (front and sides), rather than the back of the device. In practice, this ensures the cancellation of unwanted background noises and greater control over the sound.

FULL SET

Forget about additional expenses. Choosing the Genesis Radium 400 G2 you will receive not only a microphone, but a full kit necessary for its use. You will find a basket that eliminates vibrations that can negatively affect sound quality, a pop-filter and a sponge to help suppress compact (explosive) consonants and air blasts, as well as an arm that allows for quick yet professional installation.

FULL CONTROL

With the addition of a gain control knob and touch-sensitive mute button, the Genesis Radium 400 G2 allows you to customize the microphone to your needs. When streaming, do you prefer a microphone positioned a little further away, out of frame? Turn up the gain and enjoy the quality like a microphone a few inches away from you. Need to take a call? Mute the microphone in one motion by touching the panel on its front, and quickly return to your team when the call is over.

DURABILITY AND CONVENIENT CONNECTIVITY

High-quality materials, exemplary fit of components and proven solutions, including the use of a USB-C connector, guarantee full versatility. Choose the Genesis Radium 400 G2 and take your communications to the next level.
