Allterco Robotics Shelly 1PM Gen3 is a compact in-wall relay switch designed to add smart control and energy awareness to existing lighting and small appliance circuits. It enables remote on/off control, scheduling, and scripting so devices can operate automatically for convenience and energy savings. The device measures power usage and provides protection against overloads and overheating, helping users monitor consumption and reduce waste while maintaining safe operation. Connectivity options including Wi-Fi and Bluetooth plus support for MQTT and Matter make it easy to integrate the relay into broader smart home setups and control ecosystems.
